

Canadian Privacy Policy and Notice of Information Practices

Effective Date: May 1, 2022

BioMarin Pharmaceutical Inc. ("BioMarin," "we," "us," or "our") respects the privacy of visitors to our websites and online services and values the confidence of our customers, partners, patients, and employees.

This Privacy Policy and Notice of Information Practices ("Privacy Notice") applies to BioMarin's activities in Canada and sets forth BioMarin's practices regarding the collection, use, and disclosure of personal information that we may collect through the websites and online services that we operate and that link to this Privacy Notice, as well as through any of our offline services that reference this Privacy Notice (collectively, the "Services"). It also describes the rights and choices you have regarding your privacy. Please read the entire Privacy Notice before using our Services.

In this Privacy Notice, "personal information" generally means information (regardless of its format) about an identifiable individual. This may include, for example, your name, contact information, home address, email address, and birth date. It may also include more technical information, such as your IP address, browser settings and device ID, but only when this information can identify you as an individual. Information that is aggregated or anonymized and cannot be associated with an identifiable individual is not considered to be personal information.

Collection of Information

We may ask you for some or all of the following types of personal information when you register with our Services, access various content or features, submit photos and other content, or directly contact us with questions or feedback:

- Contact information, such as name, email address, postal address, and telephone number;
- Username and password;
- Demographic information, such as age and gender;
- Communication preferences;
- Search queries;
- Stories, comments, photos, and other information collected through your use of our interactive online features; and
- Correspondence and other information that you send to us.

We also may collect certain information automatically when you visit the Services, including:

- Your browser type and operating system;
- Your Internet Protocol (IP) address, which is the number automatically assigned to your computer whenever you access the Internet and that can sometimes be used to derive your general geographic area;
- Other unique identifiers, including mobile device identification numbers;
- Sites you visited before and after visiting the Services;
- Pages you view and links you click on within the Services;
- Information collected through cookies and other technologies;

- Information about your interactions with email messages, such as the links clicked on and whether the messages were opened or forwarded; and
- Standard server log information.

We do not treat this information as “personal information” if it is anonymized or aggregated so that it cannot be associated with an individual.

We may use first- or third-party cookies, and similar technologies to automatically collect this information. Cookies are small bits of information that are stored by your computer's web browser. You can decide if and how your computer will accept a cookie by configuring your preferences or options in your browser. You may also click on “Cookie Preferences” on our websites to manage your choices. However, if you choose to reject cookies, you may not be able to use certain online products, services or features available through the Services.

We may allow third parties to place and read their own cookies, web beacons, Local Shared Objects, and similar technologies to collect information through the Services. For example, our third-party service providers may use these technologies to collect information that helps us with traffic measurement, research, and analytics. Local Shared Objects (sometimes referred to as "Flash Cookies") are similar to standard cookies except that they can be larger and are downloaded to a computer or mobile device by the Adobe Flash media player. Please note that you may need to take additional steps beyond changing your browser settings to refuse or disable Local Shared Objects and similar technologies. For example, Local Shared Objects can be controlled through the instructions on Adobe's Setting Manager page. If you choose to refuse, disable, or delete these technologies, some of the functionality of the Services may no longer be available to you.

Response to "Do Not Track" Signals

Some Internet browsers include the ability to transmit "Do Not Track" signals. Since uniform standards for "Do Not Track" signals have not yet been adopted, BioMarin does not process or respond to "Do Not Track" signals.

Use of Information

We process your personal information for a variety of legitimate business interests including the following examples:

- Providing you with the products, promotions, services, and information you request;
- Contacting you about products, services, and events that we think might be of interest to you (subject to your right to unsubscribe, as detailed under “Your Choices and Your Information”);
- Maintaining or administering the Services, performing business analyses, or other internal purposes to improve the quality of our business, the Services, and other products and services we offer;
- Publishing stories, comments, photos, and other information posted in our interactive online features;
- Processing employment applications and inquiries; and
- Customizing and personalizing your use of the Services.

We may also process your information in order to comply with our legal obligations, satisfy any contract between us and you, establish and defend any legal claims, and in specific cases process your information based on your consent.

Sharing of Information

We are committed to maintaining your trust, and we want you to understand when and with whom we may share the personal information we collect.

- Corporate Parents and Affiliates. We may share your information with our corporate parents and other affiliated entities, who may use it for purposes described in this Privacy Notice. For more information on those entities, see www.biomarin.com/contact.
- Service Providers. We may share your information with service providers that perform certain functions or services on our behalf pursuant to the purposes set out in this Privacy Notice (such as to host the Services, manage databases, perform analyses, or send communications for us).
- Other Parties When Required by Law or as Necessary to Protect the Services. We may disclose your information to third parties in order to: protect the legal rights, safety, and security of BioMarin, our corporate parents and affiliates, and the users of our Services; enforce our Terms of Use; prevent fraud (or for risk management purposes); and comply with or respond to law enforcement, or legal process, or a request for cooperation by a government entity, whether or not legally required.
- In Connection with a Transfer of Assets. If we sell all or part of our business, or make a sale or transfer of assets, or are otherwise involved in a merger or business transfer, or in the event of bankruptcy, we may transfer your information to one or more third parties as part of that transaction.
- Other Parties with Your Consent. We may disclose information to third parties when we have your consent to do so.

We may disclose to third parties aggregated or anonymized information that cannot be associated with an individual, such as aggregate website usage data or demographic reports.

Social Networking Services

BioMarin has worked with certain third-party social media providers to offer you their social networking services through our Services. For example, you can use third-party social networking services, including but not limited to Facebook, Twitter, and others, to share information about your experience on our Services with your friends and followers on those social networking services. These social networking services may be able to collect information about you, including your activity on our Services. These third-party social networking services also may notify your friends, both on our Services and on the social networking services themselves, that you are a user of our Services or about your use of our Services, in accordance with applicable law and their own privacy policies. If you choose to access or make use of third-party social networking services, we may receive information about you that you have made available to those social networking services, including information about your contacts on those social networking services.

Security and Retention

We maintain reasonable security procedures to help protect against loss, misuse or unauthorized access, disclosure, alteration or destruction of the information you provide through the Services. However, no data transmission over the Internet or stored on a server can be guaranteed to be 100% secure. As a result, while we strive to protect your information and privacy, we cannot guarantee or warrant the security of any information you disclose or transmit to us online and cannot be responsible for the theft, destruction, or inadvertent disclosure of your information.

You are responsible for maintaining the confidentiality of your account password and for any access to or use of the Services using your password, whether or not authorized by you. Please notify us immediately of any unauthorized use of your password or account or any other breach of security.

Your information will be retained only for so long as reasonably necessary for the purposes set forth in this Privacy Notice, in accordance with applicable laws. We maintain policies and practices governing the retention and destruction of Personal Information.

Children's Privacy

The Services do not knowingly collect, use, or disclose personal information from children without prior parental consent, except as permitted by applicable legislation.

If you have questions concerning our information practices with respect to children, please contact us using the form located here.

Your rights may include the right to access or request the correction of your child's personal information. If you would like to make such a request, please contact us using the form located here.

Your Choices and Your Information

At any time, you may request to stop receiving emails or other communications from us. Your rights, depending on where you live, may include the right to request deletion of your personal information. You may also request to access your personal information or request correction of inaccurate information, subject to limited exceptions set out in applicable laws. You may make such a request by contacting us by completing the form found here or follow the instructions included in our communications.

Previously granted consent may be withdrawn at any time (subject to certain legal or contractual restrictions). Keep in mind that by withdrawing consent (in whole or in part) to our collection, use or disclosure of personal information, we may no longer be able to provide you with our Services. To withdraw your consent, please use the form found here.

International Transfers

BioMarin's headquarters are located in the United States, therefore personal information we collect in Canada will be stored in the United States. We may also transfer personal information to some of our service providers which may store personal information in jurisdictions other than where you reside. As a result, such Personal Information may be subject to the law of the United States or other jurisdictions, including any law permitting or requiring disclosure of the information to the governmental authorities.

Links to Third-Party Content

As a convenience to our visitors, the Services may link to a number of sites, services, and other content that are operated and maintained by third parties. These third parties operate independently from us, and we do not control their privacy practices. Such links do not constitute an endorsement by BioMarin of the content or the persons or entities associated therewith. This Privacy Notice does not apply to third-party content. We encourage you to review the privacy policies of any third party to whom you provide information.

Policy Updates

This Privacy Notice may be revised from time to time as we add new features and services, as laws change, and as industry privacy and security best practices evolve. We display an effective date on the policy in the upper left corner of this Privacy Policy so that it will be easier for you to know when there has been a change. If we make any material change to this Privacy Notice regarding use or disclosure of personal information, we will provide advance notice through the Services or by other means when required by law. Small changes or changes that do not significantly affect individual privacy interests may be made at any time and without prior notice.
